

THE UCLA DEPARTMENT OF SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE

presents the

2005 LOIS B. MATTHEWS LECTURE

"THE ETHICAL CHALLENGE IN CONTEMPORARY ARTS AND LITERATURE"

a lecture by

KARL ERIK SCHOLLHAMMER

Professor, Department of Letters
Pontifícia Universidade Católica, Rio de Janeiro.

Professor Schollhammer holds an M.A. in Nordic Literature and a Ph.D. in Semiotics and Latin American Literature from Aarhus University in Denmark. He has taught at his alma mater and at the Federal University of Brasília. In 1991 he became associate professor in the Department of Language and Literature, Pontifícia Universidade Católica Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, where he now teaches comparative literature, Brazilian literature and literary theory. He is a researcher at the Conselho Nacional de Pesquisa and has published extensively on contemporary Brazilian literature and culture. Professor Schollhammer is co-editor and co-author of Linguagens da Violência(2000), Novas Epistemologias (2000), Literatura e Mídia(2002), Literatura e Cultura (2003), Literatura e Imagem(2005) and author of a forthcoming volume on readings in literature and image entitled O Olhar da Prosa.