The organizers of YANANTIN invite the community of Los Angeles to attend, experience, and engage in the fascinating and beautiful world of Andean Culture and the Kichwa/Quechua Language. Through this experience, we will learn the journey and struggle the indigenous communities have confronted to (re)construct themselves as political actors in the midst of existing differences within the dynamics of the Andean Plurinational States.

This event is organized by the Kichwa/Quechua and Spanish 170 students with the instruction of professor Luz María De la Torre.
