

The Department of Spanish and Portuguese and the Program on Caribbean Studies present:

De la Sierra a la ficción: líderes revolucionarios en la literatura cubana contemporánea

A talk by

Damaris Puñales-Alpízar
Case Western Reserve University

Thursday, February 25
4:10 pm PST

Zoom ID: 995 7133 1981
Passcode: 729637

Dr. Damaris Puñales-Alpízar (Ph.D. University of Iowa) is an Associate Professor of Hispanic Studies at Case Western Reserve. She studied Journalism at the University of Havana, and has worked as a journalist in Cuba, Belize, and Mexico. Her publications include the books La maldita circunstancia. Ensayos sobre literatura cubana (2020), and Escrito en cirílico. El ideal soviético en la cultura cubana posnoventa (2012), and she edited the volumes Asedios al caimán letrado: literatura y poder en la Revolución cubana (2018, with Emilio J. Gallardo Saborido, and Jesús Gómez de Tejada); and El Atlántico como frontera. Mediaciones culturales